Rust Buckets

Broken-down old bombs dumped in the Aussie Bush provide vibrant inspiration for a local artist.

● Melbourne artist Jason Kimberley's latest exhibition is a collection of photos taken during trips to the Australian Outback. Dead Cars and Rusty Barrels is a colourful exploration of "dead car yards" on cattle stations in the Gulf Country of the Northern Territory, as well as images from the Flinders Ranges in South Australia. Kimberley said he's fascinated by rust and decay – "the true interface between human creation and nature's destruction".

■ Dead Cars and Rusty Barrels, Nellie Castan Gallery, 12 River St, South Yarra, until September 4.
