

ARTS

BLUE POLES

It takes a certain bravado to bare all when the temperature falls as low as minus 45 degrees. It also takes a certain cheek to ask your already chilly companion to strip off for art's sake, but photographer Jason Kimberley persuaded fellow explorer Jason Veale to bare all on their trip to Antarctica. Kimberley, whose appetite for adventure has taken him to the highest peaks in North and South

America, has gathered an exhibition of striking shots capturing the pristine majesty of a region under threat from man. Antarctica is at Kozminsky Gallery, 421 Bourke Street, city, until December 7.

